Let It Be Known

This binding agreement, struck between:

Hereafter referred to as the Patron, and

Hereafter referred to as the Vassal, stands for the purpose of granting eldritch power to the Vassal in exchange for loyal service and other such whims as the Patron sees fit.

The Obligations of the Vassal

In exchange for gifts, the Vassal agrees to the following conditions:

- Acts of Service – The Vassal shall, at the Patron's whims, perform, to the best of their abilities: simple tasks, deeds, wonders and mischief in the Planes of the Material, Feywild, Ethereal and Shadowfel. The Vassal may ask for clarification or information regarding such tasks though their nature may remain ambiguous until a moment of the Patron's choosing.
- Three Favors Yet Unspoken – At a time of the Patron's choosing, the Vassal must fulfill three requests without hesitation or question, no matter how trivial or grand.

The refusal of these conditions voids this contract and incurs consequences detailed in "Breach of Contract & Consequences"

    - The Patron shall, when necessary, provide adequate warning when the Vassal is known to be in danger by forces unknown to them.
- The Boon of Five - The ability to commit the following five acts one time each.
    - The Golden Boon - The Vassal Creates 100 gold pieces per Warlock Level.
    - The Pilgrim Boon - The Vassal teleports themselves and up to eight other creatures to any location known to them.
    - The Love Boon - The Vassal permanently charms a humanoid creature.
    - The Resistance Boon - The Vassal succeeds against any spell effect.
    - The Time Boon - The Vassal may cast the Time Stop spell.

Duration of Service

This contract remains in effect until one of the following occurs:

- The Vassal perishes, at which time the fate of their soul is to be determined by the Patron.
- The Untimely Demise of the Patron.

- The Patron deems the Vassal's service complete or after a period of two-hundred and fifty years of service.

Breach of Contract & Consequences

Should the Vassal attempt to break this pact, ignore their duties, or otherwise betray their Patron, the following punishments may be enacted at the Patron's discretion:

- Soul Trapping – The Patron Shall ensnare the soul of the Vassal, trapping it in an item of their choosing.
- Wild Pursuit – A pack of fey hunters shall be unleashed upon the Vassal until they are brought before the Patron.
- Endless Revelry – The Vassal shall be trapped within an eternal, waking dream, forced to dance and sing forever.
